INVESTOR DECK · OCTOBER 2026

Brand Vitals

One growth company.
Seven brands. One standard.

Agency | Production | Websites | Events | GO · SaaS | Crew · Marketplace | Recruit · Hiring

THE PROBLEM

Growing a brand in MENA means managing five vendors who never talk to each other.

Fragmented

Agency, production house, web developer, event company and freelancers: each with its own plan, its own reports and no shared goal.

Unchecked quality

Open marketplaces and job boards let anyone in. The brand does the filtering, the quality control and the chasing itself.

Lost in WhatsApp

Approvals, revisions and “one small change” live in group chats. Nothing is recorded, and extra work is rarely paid.

THE ANSWER

One partner for the whole growth journey, and the software that keeps every step honest.

Brand Vitals runs strategy, creative, websites, media and events under one team, and turns what we learned running them into three products: Vitals GO, Vitals Crew and Vitals Recruit.

THE FAMILY

Four service brands. Three products.

Brand Vitals
Growth agency: strategy, media, brand

Vitals Studio
Production: ads, films, reels, photography

Vitals Web

Vitals Events
Conferences, launches, exhibitions

SaaS
Vitals GO
Client approvals, one link, extra work billed

Marketplace
Vitals Crew
Vetted freelancers and teams, QA on every delivery

Hiring platform
Vitals Recruit
Creative and marketing jobs, every application screened

PROOF FROM THE AGENCY

The service side already works.

150+

THE EDGE

A human review layer that open platforms cannot copy.

Reviewed, not listed

Crew members pass 4 gates; every Recruit application is screened in 48 hours; every GO deliverable carries a recorded decision.

Built by operators

Each product solves a problem the agency handles daily, so the first users and the first feedback are in-house.

Arabic first

Full right-to-left, Egyptian and Saudi tone, local payments and WhatsApp as a real channel, not an afterthought.

One family, shared clients

A client won by one brand is introduced to the others. Acquisition cost is paid once and earned seven times.

WHY NOW

The region is buying more creative work than it can quality-check.

Content demand

Short-form video and always-on social mean brands need more creative, more often, in Arabic.

Freelance shift

More creative talent works independently, so finding someone reliable is the hard part, not finding someone.

Saudi growth

Saudi Arabia's investment in media, events and local brands is pulling in agencies and talent from Egypt.

THE PROTOTYPES

Three products you can click through today.

- Vitals GO · approvals, client portal, extra work, invoices
- Vitals Crew · client, freelancer and reviewer views
- Vitals Recruit · candidate, company and screening views

Bilingual, mobile ready, running as demos. Live data needs the Supabase backend switched on.

USER FLOW · VITALS GO

Send it. They say GO. You get paid.

1 Agency sends

Pick the client, drop the file. One link goes by WhatsApp, email or SMS.

2 Client decides

One tap for GO, or a pin on the exact spot. No account. Name and time recorded.

3 Extra work is billed

Requests outside scope become priced extra work, then an invoice with a payment link.

USER FLOW · VITALS CREW

From brief to delivery, with a reviewer at every step.

01
Brief posted
Scope, budget and deadline checked in 24h

02
Vetted bids
Only members who passed 4 gates can apply

03
Best 3
The client picks from a shortlist, with reasons

04
QA first
Every delivery is checked before the client sees it

05
Paid on approval
Escrow is released when the client approves

3 returned QA rounds → we switch the freelancer, at our cost

2 off-brief deliveries → we switch, same price, same deadline

USER FLOW · VITALS RECRUIT

A job board with one step in the middle.

01
Applied
One profile, one step, optional note

02
Screened
Read by Brand Vitals in 48h, fit score and a note

03
With company
Companies only see matches

04
Interview
The candidate is told at every move

05
Offer
Hired, and the fee is earned

For candidates: no silence. A “not a match” comes with the reason.

For companies: a short list instead of hundreds of CVs.

THE FLYWHEEL

Every brand feeds the others.

Agency → products

Our own clients approve work in GO first; their feedback shapes the product before it is sold.

Crew → capacity

Vetted freelancers give Studio and Web extra capacity without fixed payroll.

Recruit → talent

The best Crew members and applicants become hires for clients, and for us.

Products → clients

Agencies and brands that use GO, Crew or Recruit meet the service brands when they need more.

COMPETITION

Each product meets a familiar rival. None of them review.

Ours	Familiar alternatives	Where we differ
Vitals GO	WhatsApp groups, email, Filestage, Ziflow	Arabic first, WhatsApp delivery, extra work billed in the same flow
Vitals Crew	Upwork, Fiverr, Freelancer, Khamsat	4-gate vetting, shortlist of 3, QA on every delivery, switch at our cost
Vitals Recruit	LinkedIn, Wuzzuf, Bayt	Creative and marketing only, every application screened, answer in 48h
Service brands	Independent agencies and production houses	One accountable partner across brand, content, web, media and events

RISKS

What could go wrong, and our answer.

Risk	Mitigation
Focus spread over seven brands	Products launch in sequence; one owner per brand; shared reviewers and tech
Human review does not scale	Scorecards, checklists and auto-match hints keep reviewer time per case low
Marketplace cold start	Our own clients and network seed both sides of Crew and Recruit
Currency and price swings in Egypt	SaaS priced in USD; growing Saudi revenue in SAR
Bigger platforms copy features	The edge is trust and local depth, not a feature list

INVESTOR REVIEW · OUR HONEST READ

- Fill every [bracket]
